The wrestling match on the fair grounds Monday afternoon, Sept. 1, will be between Jack M'Grath, the Irish Giant, and George Sundakoff, a Russian, who was for some time the wrestling partner of George Hackler, schmidt in the old country. The meeting of these men should be a battle royal. It will commence at 1 o'clock sharp.

"There will be no fake about it," said a member of the society's sporting committee yesterday. "The Russian is over here with his eyes glued to the championship. He wants to meet Frank Gotsch and if he can show anything like championship form the Iowa boy will, it is believed, take him on some time next winter."

RAIN ARRIVES.
Came Friday Night, Beating Uncle Horace's Prediction for the 28th.

Up to Friday night the rainfall for the month had been only a little over a third of an inch and the scarcity of water in August had been part of the long drought from which the country generally had been suffering, but about 11 o'clock Friday a heavy drizzle of moisture in the air gave reason to hope that something better was to come from the skies, a hope that became a certainty when the night when rain—real rain—began to fall and continued in old fashioned style all the rest of the morning.

It was a soaking pour that will do an incalculable amount of good and rescue for many a farmer the crop that had given up for lost. The rain will fill streams and water courses and replenish wells that have long been dry.

She was too slow for practical work and although staunch it was decided several years ago to dispose of her. The ship has been done within the past few days. A crew will probably take her away within a week.

"Know-How-Itiveness"
Stick-to-it-iveness.

These two words embrace the motto of the most successful manufacturing drug man in the country.

He is one of the largest advertisers in the daily newspapers in the United States.

He began using them after a careful study of the best means of reaching the consumer and interesting the retailer. He knew how.

And he stuck to it.

He has got rich in a few years, and he has the most loyal following of retailers of any manufacturer in the world.

The retailers swear by him, because he has made money for them—and taught them how to sell goods.

That manufacturer and his retailers all over the continent are planning one of the greatest co-operative advertising campaigns ever undertaken.

And newspapers like The Bulletin will be the medium used in that campaign.

In the Second Division.

In the second division on Friday there were also several withdrawals which affected some of the scores. Capt. Wahly deciding that he could not continue and Mr. Hall coming to the same conclusion. As neither had played six games their games were dropped out of the standing. G. M. Thompson has also withdrawn, but the games that he has played will all go to the credit of his opponents as he had played six games before he withdrew.

In this division there are prospects for considerable of a tieup in first and second places. Adams made in the division now, but can be tied by Rodman if the latter wins games he has to play. W. H. Hitt and W. L. Robinson will have one game added to his score by Thompson's default. If Hewitt beats Rodman and Rodman beats Wahly there will be a tieup for second place between Rodman, Hewitt and Mimer.

The following were the games played Friday:

SECRETARY W. E. PERRY.
Who Declined Re-election.

A crowd that left only standing room available at the roque club grounds on Friday evening watched the finish of play in the games for the two Van Wickle medals and gave resounding applause to National Champion Eddie Clark of Springfield in the first division and to G. L. Hewitt of Mansfield, Mass., in the second.

Hewitt defeated Ewer.

Hewitt's title was first decided, as he needed but one game to give him the necessary four, and he got that with little difficulty when he defeated H. C. Ewer of Portland, Ore. The man from the west had little show to win, although he had the odds in his possession, but the short glimpse that he got of them profited him little. He made a total of three arches in the game, with one ball and one with the other. The score on the medal play for the series stood Hewitt 4, Ewer 1.

Clark vs. Cox Was Close.

The first division game was more bitterly fought and although defeated Cox had his opponent and the spectators watching the game. The ultimate result, by winning this game, Cox had a chance to prolong the fight, but if he lost, the possession of the title for which he had challenged Clark was settled, as Clark already had three games to his credit to the one for Cox.

Cox Won for Clark.

This put it up to Cox to play his best and make sure of the game, and it looked for a while as if he were going to do so. He had both balls established a lead by getting one ball a rover and the other to the cage going home. Clark had both balls in the cage going home. But the crucial point arrived when Clark captured the balls by a splendidly calculated bank shot when the balls were grouped around the cage. Shortly after Cox had a chance to make exactly the same kind of a shot, but this time his ball rolled tantalizingly right through the other three clustered around the center of the court, without clicking against the wall. Clark, who had been waiting for this, established a lead by getting one ball a rover and the other to the cage going home. Clark had both balls in the cage going home. But the crucial point arrived when Clark captured the balls by a splendidly calculated bank shot when the balls were grouped around the cage. Shortly after Cox had a chance to make exactly the same kind of a shot, but this time his ball rolled tantalizingly right through the other three clustered around the center of the court, without clicking against the wall.

Mayor Murphy Speaks.

Just as the applause over the conclusion of the game subsided President L. C. Williamson from his post of observation on the side of the court, addressed Mayor T. C. Murphy among the spectators and called him up for a few remarks.

The mayor was taken by surprise, but obligingly responded and told the roqueists and the assembled crowd that the city felt honored to have a body of gentlemen and able players of the game in its midst and was more than pleased that the association had done so well.

After the Van Wickle games several interesting exhibition games were played on the courts for the entertainment of the spectators.

Tournament Progresses.

In the tournament play on Friday, the games progressed so that the players were beginning to forecast possible winners or ties for the first places Sunday night. The first place was held by Eddie Clark and E. W. Robinson are running neck and neck, neither having lost a game in the nine they have played. Clark and E. W. Robinson are running neck and neck, neither having lost a game in the nine they have played. Clark and E. W. Robinson are running neck and neck, neither having lost a game in the nine they have played.

Response by President Williamson.

That the mayor's remarks were highly acceptable was indicated by the applause that was given him and President Williamson pleasantly responded by stating that to the mayor was due the honor of having the tournament held in his city and that he was glad to come here as long as they could be assured of the enthusiastic interest and support that the citizens accorded to the game.

After the Van Wickle games several interesting exhibition games were played on the courts for the entertainment of the spectators.

Band Concert Outside Grounds.

Through the cooperative spirit of the municipal authorities a band concert by Tubbs' band for Friday evening was given on a stand erected just outside the roque club grounds and resulted in a very large crowd of people in the neighborhood, many of whom passed into the grounds to see the games while a large number congregated in Rockwell street and about the walk into Mohegan park to listen to the finely rendered programme, which was a highly successful one.

The regular programme had been finished, the band came inside the grounds about 9.30 o'clock and gave two or three more selections for good measure. When they played Aud Lang Syne just before packing up, the crowd appreciated the sentiment and applauded.

After the Van Wickle games several interesting exhibition games were played on the courts for the entertainment of the spectators.

Former Champion Bosworth Visited Courts.

Former Champion Harold Bosworth was a visitor at the roque grounds on Thursday evening. He rolled the balls around for a short time in a game with Rodman.

MAKING WAGON TRIP ON HEALTH SEARCH.
Boston Man Arrives Here With His Family on Naval Tour.

Homeward bound from Wilmington, Del., to Boston after an absence of about a year in a search for improved health, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Brown and their 13 year old daughter Minerva drove into the city late Thursday afternoon in the wagon which had been their portable home on the trip. They had left Wilmington on the fourth of July and traveled along by easy stages, coming from New London in the afternoon. Mr. Brown said that had been their longest drive between stops, stopping at various places.

The family took to this mode of traveling for the benefit of Mrs. Brown's health after the doctors had told her she must live in the open. With a smile of satisfaction Mr. Brown said the plan had been a success, for his wife had improved so much that she now weighed more than he does.

When they drove into the city on Thursday Mrs. Brown sat inside the wagon in a steamer chair which folds up when not in use and is easily tucked out of the way, and Minerva on the seat with her father, while a fox terrier perched on a pile of blankets and seemed to take an interest in the arrival in a strange city. The dog was not part of the original outfit, but was given to Minerva last summer near Tarrytown when they drove from Boston to Wilmington. They stayed over winter in Wilmington, selling their horse meanwhile and purchasing another when they were ready to start back home.

The portable home of the Browns is a covered wagon which Mr. Brown built especially for the trip. In it are stored bedding, tent, cooking utensils, water jugs and all the articles necessary for a pilgrimage existence. All the family sleep in the wagon, and the wagon is occupied with lockers for storage of articles when not in use. The side curtains can be buttoned close to exclude rain and the wagon is as cozy as a four-wheel house could possibly be. It furnishes sleeping accommodations for the whole family and also carry a tent which they can use for steps over Sunday, as they do not traveling that day.

Mr. Brown has many articles along the way, advertising various novelties.

BORDERS AT ONCE
Decided at Annual Meeting—President Williamson Re-elected—Association Grateful to Board of Trade.

The annual meeting of the National Roque association, adjourned from Wednesday, was called to order by President L. C. Williamson at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The board of directors, composed of C. C. Cox, A. L. Peale, and Charles Jacobus of investigation and report at the next annual meeting. Chairman W. C. Rodman of the committee on new members announced that 200 circulars had been sent out to roque players in an effort to increase interest in the association. G. Adams, chairman of the auditing committee, reported that the treasurer's report had been found correct.

C. G. Williams of Washington, chairman of the committee on new member borders reported that Mayor Murphy had been visited and that the board had promised $125 or more if needed for the construction of the desired center borders. It was voted to give E. G. Adams of Kingston, N. Y., full charge of the work of construction and the work will be started at once. The borders may be well season when another tournament rolls around.

Mr. Adams says that the courts can be quickly equipped for $125 or $150. The work will probably be commenced next week and Mr. Adams will be assisted by local workmen. Mr. Adams has a wide experience in cement work and has offered to do the work at cost.

A vote of thanks was passed the Board of Trade, Mayor Murphy, the committee and Mr. Adams for their part in securing the new borders. Secretary was given a vote of thanks for his efforts in making the tournament a financial success. The report of the nominating committee was read and officers elected for the ensuing year.
